Shop on Citrus Ave

Plumber Better Located.

E. L. Jackson, who has maintained a business on Badillo street, has opened up a new store on Citrus avenue in the building formerly occupied by Kistler, the painter. Mr. Jackson has fitted up the interior of the shop in an up-to-date manner, and has placed in a full line of plumbing apparatus, bath tubs, foot baths, and general fittings. The new store is a big improvement over the old one.

Wanted: To buy or trade old watch cases. M. Wright, the jeweler.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

The Closing Days of School are Filled With Many Events For Scholars and Friends.

The Commencement program of the Covina Union High School indicates a week full of entertainment. Following are the events:

*Class Sermon, First Presbyterian Church, Sunday, June 13, 8 p. m. Sermon by Rev. Paul G. Stevens.

Faculty Reception to Class of 1937, Monday, June 14, 8 p. m.

Annual Meeting of Student Body, High School Auditorium, Tuesday, June 15, 2:30 p. m.

Class Day Exercises, High School Auditorium, Wednesday, June 16, 8 p. m.

*Annual Musicales, High School Auditorium, Thursday, June 17, 2 p. m.

*Reed Oratorical Contest, High School Auditorium, Thursday, June 17, 8 p. m.

*Commencement, First Presbyterian Church, June 18, 8:15 p. m. Address by Dr. Hugh H. Walker, Los Angeles.

Alumni Reunion, Tuesday evening, June 22.

*Starred events above are open to the public. Admission to Commencement will be by ticket. Requests for tickets will be honored according to precedent of application. Holders of tickets will present them before 8 o'clock. At 8:15 o'clock the doors will be thrown open and seats then unoccupied may be taken by anyone. For the class sermon on Sunday evening the Sophomore class will, as usual, attend to decorations and usher. The faculty and graduates will march in a body and occupy seats in the middle section of the church.

Admission to the Class Day exercises, Wednesday evening will be by ticket. The distribution of the tickets will be by the Seniors to their friends. This is made necessary on account of the limited capacity of the auditorium.

The second annual Reed Oratorical Contest promises to be an entertainment of unusual merit. Five speakers will contest for the honors. Special zest has been added to the contest this year through the further interest of Dr. J. D. Reed, the original donor of the prizes. Dr. Reed has added ten dollars to the fund for this year, making the fund $20.

On account of the limited capacity of the auditorium adult friends and patrons only are cordially invited to attend this contest.

Instead of the annual concert, to which an admission has been charged, the musical organizations of the high school will give a free musical on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Adult friends and patrons are cordially invited to this entertainment.

Tickets for the graduation exercises on Friday evening will be distributed as widely as possible. As heretofore, it will be necessary to deny tickets to school pupils below the eighth grades.

MUSICALES, THURSDAY, 2 P. M.
Song "Come to the Woodland," (Crum); "Flag of the Free" (Wagner), high school chorus.

Song, "The Night Bells" (Vincent); "Let the Hills Resound" (Richards), high school chorus.

Song, "Anvil Chorus from 'Il Trovatore'" (Verdi), high school chorus.

Overture, "Berlin in Joy and Sorrow" (Conradi), high school orchestra.

Mexican dance, "Dark Eyes" (Moret), high school orchestra.

Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni), Mr. Philco and orchestra.

Valse Lento, "Innocence" (Moret), high school orchestra.

Selection "Southern Songs" (Cortner), high school band.

Intermezzo, "After Sunset" (Cortner), high school band.

March, "Maryland, My Maryland" (Pantella), high school band.

A Successful Raid.

A "blind pig," operating in the concrete block owned by G. H. White on West Badillo street, was raided this week by City Marshal Mehnert and a posse of citizens, and a wash tub filled with bottled beer on ice was seized and confiscated. Hundreds of empty bottles filled the dingy room, and at the time of the raid several men were in the place drinking beer. The men in the room were Wilson, Connor, Macny and Thomas. All were arrested and taken before Recorder Douglas who fixed their fines, which were paid promptly by all parties.

The joint in this old building has long been a nuisance, and White, the owner, was told several times of the nature of business being conducted there, but said that he had no knowledge of it and asked to accompany the officers and be "shown." When the nature of the business was disclosed, City Marshal Mehnert arrested him for renting a building for illicit purposes. White was violently incensed at his arrest. He is a man of considerable means and some prudence in the town, having been at one time a candidate on the Democratic ticket for Justice of the Peace of Rowland Township.

Milo Wilson, the man who conducted the joint as the ostensible proprietor, paid his fine without a murmur. Wilson is the same man who was operating a similar place of business in the "old red shack" in the rear of the Covina House the night that this famous dwelling was gutted by fire. The Argus wrote him up at the time, much to the injury of his reputation. It is said he is only the tool in the hands of a well-known gambler, who is the financial backer of the now defunct blind pig, it is alleged. As usual, the real offender does not figure in the trouble. This man gets off Scot free, and seems to be immune from arrest in this town, although he has done no work for years, and could be arrested at any time as a common vagrant.

PAUL DE LONGPRE, THE "KING OF FLOWER PAINTERS."

Masterpieces of this Great Artist Can Be Secured by Every Customer at Cummings' Confectionery Today.

Perhaps the only artist to devote his whole life-work to the painting of flowers is Paul de Longpre, the "King of Flower Painters," as he is known from Paris to Pekin. He evinces a love for all flowers that amounts almost to a passion, and this poetical, botanical painter handles his subjects with unrivalled skill and a technical knowledge of botany attained by few.

From his earliest childhood he was passionately fond of Nature, and the woods, the streams, the flowers, the cool retreats of the fern, all were his by right of affection and investigating spirit. Flowers were his particular delight, and he tells of appropriating the paper in school, which should have been used in solving some mathematical problem, and sketching upon it some flower or leaves that appealed to his artistic eye.

Finally he began to work in colors, and with his little box of cheap water colors and bits of paper painted the things of the woods so realistically that they could fairly hear the humming of the bees, smell the perfume of the flowers and see the little birds' throats fairly bursting with melodies.

Now, for several years in his beautiful home in Hollywood, California, he has created some of the most exceeding their feathers, their little Now, for several years in his beautiful home in Hollywood, California, he has created some of the most exceeding their feathers, their little Now, for several years in his beautiful home in Hollywood, California, he has created some of the most exceeding their feathers, their little

Mr. de Longpre is indeed conceded to be the greatest living painter of flowers, and such an offer as this occurs not often in a lifetime. He is member Cummings' today.

FRAIL CORD SEVERED

Beautiful Life of Mrs. Alfred Fletcher Relinquishes Pain For Perfect Peace.

Mrs. Charlotte (Dundas) Fletcher, wife of Rev. Alfred Fletcher, pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity (Episcopal), died yesterday afternoon, Friday, June 11th, at about 3 o'clock, after an illness of nearly two years. She was in her forty-ninth year. Surrounding her bedside at the time of passing, were her husband, her sister, the two sons, Alfred and John, and the daughter, Miss Evelyn. All the members of the immediate family had been summoned home some days ago, as the end had been momentary expected for days.

The cause of death was due to pleuric effusion, a lingering, painful disease, which first gave signs of its presence two years ago at Christmas time.

The funeral will take place at 10:30 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Trinity on Monday morning, Bishop J. H. Johnson, D.D., and Dr. A. G. True, D.D., of Los Angeles, officiating.

Mrs. Alfred Fletcher was born in Alliston, Canada, in 1859. She belonged to the family of Mr. and Mrs. James Dundas, connected devoutly with the Church of England, and on September 25th, 1883, was married to Mr. Fletcher while he was stationed at Alliston as its rector. Three years afterward, Rev. and Mrs. Fletcher came to California, taking up the work of the church in the San Gabriel valley, and there

Fletcher was ever by his side, a clever-minded woman of God, kindly and filled with a knowledge and compassion for the frailties of human nature, a woman of rare worth in the difficult position accorded her in presiding over the household of the pastor of the parish.

She came first with her husband to Pasadena, thence to Redlands, Corona, San Diego, and finally to Covina, where she became enshrined in the hearts of the people of the parish, even as she had been loved by all who had come in contact with her beautiful, quiet nature, throughout her service in various places in California.

Her work during the seven years in Covina is remembered by young and old as that of an understanding woman consecrated to the cause of Christ. During the long illness only the most intimate friends were allowed to see her, as Mrs. Fletcher's condition, especially toward the last, was one of extreme suffering. Those nearest her speak of her as patient in the trial placed upon her. The entire parish is filled with the most genuine mourning at her passing, though also rejoicing because of her entrance into the reward she so richly deserved.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Alfred C. B. and John D. Fletcher, one daughter, Evelyn C. Fletcher, one sister of her own household and the one nearest her throughout her long hours of suffering, Miss Isabella Dundas, and four brothers, Rev. Chas. B. Dundas of England, and James, Arthur and Henry in Canada.

Managers of Telephone Companies Meet in Covina.

The managers and superintendents of the various Home Telephone companies throughout Southern California will hold their quarterly meeting in Covina today. Over thirty-five representatives expect to be present on this occasion. At these meetings the general welfare and matters incident to the improvements of the service of the various companies are discussed.

Following the business meeting the visitors will be taken charge of by the stockholders of the local company and given an auto ride through the valley, visiting Glendora, Shedd's Park, Azusa, and other points of interest.

In the evening the visitors will be entertained with a banquet at Hotel Vendome.

CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAM.

Two-Hundred and Seventy-Five Dollars Subscribed for the Missionary Maintained by Local Church in Africa.

Sunday proved a day memorable in the history of the Christian Church of this city. It was Missionary Rally Day in the Sunday School and although the pastor, Sunday School superintendent and teachers were looking forward to great things to be accomplished by the local church for the cause of missions on that day, the results far exceeded their expectations. In the morning 240 children answered to roll call at Sunday school and a collection which passed the $200 mark was raised toward the support of the church missionary in Africa.

In the evening scores were turned away from the doors of the church, unable to gain admission, returning to their homes disappointed at being unable to listen to the splendid program rendered by the children. Fully 500 filled the sacred edifice. The collection added to that of the morning made $275 for the cause of missions raised by the church on Sunday. Evening program.

True Culture.

(An answer.)

Kindly Covina Critic complains that there was no vulgar vociferous applause at the excellent entertainment given by the Glee Club of the Normal School, under the auspices of the Amphion Society. As the affair was not a public entertainment, but a reception at which most of us were guests, such exuberance was not in order, but there was certainly no lack of heartfelt appreciation of the sweet "garden of girls." Besides, the audience was well aware that the young ladies had to hurry through the program to catch a car.

"K. K. K." ends with an indirect question, "Covina people may or may not be cultured." Those of us who hail from Boston of course are, since in that aesthetic atmosphere, even the boot-blacks and scrub-ladies are models of refinement.

True culture springs from the heart and soul; it is not a veneer, to be put on or cast off upon occasion. It is to be the highest we can, body, soul and spirit, and then to forget ourselves and only remember that we are just a tiny piece of God. Some of us try so hard to be cultured, that we cannot forget ourselves, which is the hallmark of true culture.

However, this is not a western fault, for we are proverbially honest and will not pretend to be other than we are. For our children, we need have no fear, for it would be almost impossible for them to be associated with the women on the staff of our schools with unconsciously absorbing all that makes for true culture, and amongst our school girls we have many whose dainty persons and gentle manners are not surpassed among the nobility of Europe.

Making Healthy Growth.

Covina Council, No. 525, Fraternal Aid Association, is making a healthy growth, five new members being initiated Monday night. A number of applications have been received, the result of the canvass made by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Packard, and it has been decided to hold regular meetings every Monday for initiation ceremonies. A drill team will be organized at once.

An open meeting will be held on Monday evening next to which a cordial invitation is extended to the public. A program has been prepared which will be followed by a public installation of the newly elected officers, which follow: Past president, E. B. Blakemore; president, J. W. Nash; secretary, P. L. Nash; treasurer, C. H. Stanton; chaplain, Miss Gena F. Cameron; guide, Mrs. Mildred Crouse; observer, Miss Blanche Crouse; sentinel, Frank A. Swallow; trustees, S. W. Goodwin; J. F. Ohaver, C. E. Blanchard; auditing committee, Oscar Miller, C. H. Stanton, C. A. Simmons.

High School Items

Wednesday evening, June 9th, the Junior class entertained the Seniors with a theater party, chartering a special car and going to Los Angeles to attend the evening performance of "Jack Straw" at the Mason. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

Last evening the Sophomore boys entertained the girls of that class in a return reception at the high school. An excellent program was given, games were played, and at a late hour the reception ended with "Goodnight, Ladies," after enjoying light refreshments.

Commencement exercises will begin Monday, the 14th. Exams will also be in order about that time. The Senior exams have been held this week, and also a few of the underclassmen's.

There will be quite a change in the faculty when school resumes in September. Prof. van Vleet is going to Hollywood to accept the position of mathematics and Spanish teacher, Miss Hawes has accepted the position of teacher of the French and German classes at the Pasadena High School, and Miss Lummls has decided to cease instructing students in the ways of Caesar and Cicero and instead, it is rumored, has accepted a permanent position as housekeeper for a young man she has been very well acquainted with for some time. We are very sorry to lose these teachers from the faculty, as they have been very popular with us.

Our capable and efficient instructor in mathematics, Miss Griswold, will leave in a few weeks for a trip "across the pond," and will spend her vacation touring Europe. Covina High School wishes her an enjoyable trip.

The class of '09 numbers 22, of which 8 are boys. Of this number, all but one intend entering some higher institution of learning, either when the fall semester opens or next year. This is a splendid record and one that will not be rivaled very soon by any other high school in Southern California of the same size.

COMMISSION IN DISPUTE.

Stanton & Harnish Make Biggest Sale For Years With Difficulty in Collection.—Sales Brisk.

An attachment has arisen out of one of the largest realty sales ever consummated in the Covina valley in orange property, the difficulty coming through the sale this week of 137 acres of splendid orange property belonging to the San Dimas Heights Citrus Association, of which Daniel Durkee is president. The big transfer was effected through the office of Stanton & Harnish of Covina, which firm sold the ranch to W. C. Ames, a banker in Los Angeles and millionaire business man of the far East.

According to the statement given the Argus by J. M. Stanton, the sale was effected through his firm by a realty man by the name of Cramer, of Los Angeles, who, Stanton states, was authorized by his firm to secure a buyer with the understanding that the ranch was listed by Stanton & Harnish. Cramer, it is alleged, is attempting to collect full commission for the sale, while Stanton says that President Durkee has no knowledge of any realty firm in the transaction save that of Stanton & Harnish. The entire amount of commission amounts to about $2,500, of which $1,700 is claimed by the local realty firm. The attachment is brought through the advice of Andrew M. Pence, attorney at law, retained by Stanton & Harnish.

Pollard & Hutchinson report the sale of 10 acres owned by D. M. Sutherland on Cienega avenue, to Robert N. Linton of Hollywood, for a consideration of $15,000. The grove is one-third Valencia, the rest being navel. Residence property at Hollywood valued at $5,000 is exchanged. The trees are from four to sixteen years of age, with Azusa contract water stock appurtenant.

I. C. Fairly has sold for R. A. Welch, ten acres on Rowland avenue to Thomas Trawick of Pasadena, for $25,000. This grove is one-half in Valencia and one-half in navel. It was formerly owned by Miss Lizzie Christie, and the gross receipts for six years were $6,000 annually.

The sale is reported of ten acres of Valencia and navel belonging to O. F. Trolut, on Citrus avenue, north of the town, to State Senator Church of Nevada. The consideration was $13,500. Senator Church is now at Pasadena, and intends to make his home on the Covina property.

The city property belonging to C. E. Crawford on Citrus avenue in which the offices of Pollard & Hutchinson and the barber shop of Hessel (the & Lewis are situated, was sold with lot this week to J. W. Groover of Irwindale, by the firm of Stanton & Harnish, consideration $6,000. Mr. Groover exchanges ten acres of oranges in Irwindale, valued at $6,500.

J. L. Matthews and George Van Vleet have sold through Stanton & Harnish, five acres of the Jennison tract on the southeast corner, to L. S. Moss of Covina. The consideration is $6,500.

A. J. Reetz has sold the E. A. Godfrey place of ten acres near Charter Oak for $12,500. The purchaser is a Mr. Curtis. The grove is equally divided between navel and Valencia.

Notice of Dissolution.

Mrs. L. D. Graham, having purchased the rights and holdings in the firm of Webb & Graham, milliners, in the City of Covina, Los Angeles County, formerly held and owned by Miss Lulu Webb, now assumes a place in partnership of the firm, which is to be known henceforth as the firm of Gilmore & Graham. All accounts due the former firm are payable to the new firm. All debts due and standing at time of dissolution will be assumed in full by the new partnership and in part by the firm of Gilmore & Graham.

INDEPENDENCE DAY IN COVINA.

Plans Fast Maturing for a Day Full of Festivities and Patriotic Exercises.

Merchants, property owners and the general public in Covina and vicinity are working in harness for the celebration to be held by Covina on Saturday, July 3rd, with the result that the affair will be a "blow-out" of no small proportions. Mayor E. H. Lhee, who is chairman of the committee on arrangements, stated this week that already the plans have gone far ahead of what was preliminarily arranged, and the committee is now arranging for the entertainment of a monster crowd on that day. Inquiries are coming in to the committee from surrounding towns regarding the time when the program will commence, and the transportation facilities are being planned.

The committee on program is arranging with Rev. Will A. Knighten of Los Angeles for the delivery of the Independence Day oration, which will appear on the program between 11 o'clock and 12 o'clock of Saturday morning. While the reverend gentleman has not yet accepted the invitation, it is confidently stated by the committee that this interesting speaker will be a part of the program. In the event that other matters do not allow of his coming, the committee will secure another orator. Mr. Knighten has won a reputation which is more than local as a speaker of high merit.

The following program of sports has been arranged by the committee on sports:

9 a.m.—100 yard dash for boys under fourteen; sack race, everyone competing; bicycle race for contestants in Upper San Gabriel valley; 50 yard open for girls; high jump open to Covina youths; broad jump; 200 yard straightaway; potato race; shot-put, open to Southern California; relay race between Covina and Azusa; tug 'o' war.

The prizes in the sporting events are to be valuable ones, and are being listed as fast as the committee can arrange for them. The full list of races and prizes will be ready for publication shortly.

At four o'clock in the afternoon the chief feature of the day's program will take place at the corner of Citrus avenue and Badillo street. Five companies of Cantons in full regalia will hold a competition drill and parade with 125 plumes in line.

Mrs. Gilmore's Recital.

The small audience which was present Friday night of last week at Mrs. Gilmore's recital enjoyed a special treat, and it is a pity there were not more present.

As a reader, Mrs. Gilmore sings, as she says, to express simple truths in a simple manner. She relies mostly on shades of intonation and facial expression, and employs no grotesque gestures nor bodily contortions.

"The Dividing Fence," was a pretty country story of a widow and her two beaus. The three voices were wonderfully differentiated.

"King Robert of Sicily," Longfellow's splendid fable, was splendidly rendered, and the accompaniment, arranged by our talented organist, Mr. Alec Anderson, portrayed every shade of feeling therein, including the chanting of the Gregorian Mass, the songs of angels, and the pride, anger, sorrow and repentance of the king.

"The Old U. S.," a bright popular fantasy, formed a pleasing contrast and was warmly received.

Mrs. Gilmore was ably assisted by the Lyric orchestra, which, under the leadership of Mr. Robert Phillon, gave several selections.

Mrs. Maud Stickney of Los Angeles, who sang several solos, has a well-trained and sweet soprano voice.

Bright Girl Receives Appointment.

Miss Alice Hepner, daughter of Mrs. Minerva Hepner, a graduate from the Los Angeles State Normal, this summer, has been appointed a teacher in the Inglewood city schools. Miss Alice is one of the very brightest students that have gone forth from the Covina High School.

Monday Afternoon Club.

The stockholders meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club was held on Monday afternoon. The regular business of the meeting was transacted and the following were elected directors: Miss Anna Herron, Miss Emma Hawkes, Misses Burpee, Rakekin, Ficklen, Gilbert, S. A. Schenck, and Charles and Dredwell. Miss Anna Herron was elected president, and Mrs. Charles Rakekin, vice president. Mrs. S. A. Schenck was elected secretary, and Mrs. A. Burpee, treasurer. The house committee, Mrs. R. C. Charles, presented a report on the financial condition of the club, and a check was received.

Brother's Tragic Death.
While working with a gasoline engine in his home in Minneapolis last week, Archie J. Wright, brother of Mr. M. Wright, the Covina jeweler, was struck on the head and rendered unconscious by a flying belt. He was hurried to St. Barnabas hospital in that city and five doctors attempted to save his life. He remained unconscious for sixty hours and then died. He was single, 28 years old, and leaves a father and mother, and two brothers, one in North Dakota and one in Covina. He was a member in good standing in the M.W.A. and the Odd-fellows. Mr. M. Wright did not receive the message in time to reach his brother's bedside, so remained in Covina, but he has received additional news that his mother is extremely ill, and he will probably leave for her bedside as soon as he can find a capable watchmaker to take his place in the store. Mr. Wright will be gone two weeks, during which time his store will be open as usual.

Drugs Must Go.

The functional activity of any organ or tissue depends upon the condition of the circulation which nourishes or fall to nourish it. Structure denotes function, therefore any change in structure makes a change in function.

This may seem hard to understand, but it is the foundation of health. It is the foundation of the work of good osteopaths. Dr. Lloyd W. Wells, who has offices over the Warner-Whitsel store in Covina, is in this city on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, when he is ready at any time to explain the methods employed in health-giving by a graduated osteopathist. Dr. Wells says that there can be too much as well as too little blood in any organ. Too much blood hinders the functions of the organs, too little also handicaps it, and medicine cannot remove the cause, for if it could there would not be so many chronic cases in the world today. Osteopathy goes after the cause, and removes it—then the disease is cured. The days of drugs are drawing to a close. Try osteopathy and get well. Osteopathy gives you good circulation, good elimination through the bowels and kidneys, and this means health. Call on Dr. Wells and talk with him.

DON'T KNOW WHEN WE'RE GOING, BUT WE'RE ON OUR WAY. WARNER, WHITSET & CO.

THE EMBATTLED FARMERS.

Lexington and Concord Mecca For Many Thousands During Summer Months.

Close-leaved maples and wide-spreading elms stand guard along the borders and roof over the macadam roadway that leads from Boston to the sleepy hamlets of Lexington and Concord. The roadsides and lawns along the way are a deeper green even than our own orange tree foliage, and Lexington Park is alive with the birds that return each year to these aged trees. And too, at this season, pilgrims from all over the world are peering in and about the corners of the strange old towns, which, have fallen asleep like Rip Van Winkle, shortly after the Revolution; but unlike him, have never interrupted the long, somnolent years with an awakening.

At this time, when the people of Covina are preparing to celebrate the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and when thoughts naturally trend toward that "hallowed ground," a little chat by the writer, who has lived and studied and dreamed away many hours in the place where the first shot was fired, may be of momentary interest. For, to every American, the sight of these stern old towns, with their jealously guarded traditions, their monuments covered by lichens, and their atmosphere of reserved peace, brings a feeling of patriotic awe, such awe as cannot be summoned at the sight of bloodier battle-ground of more recent wars.

The student in the Covina schools should plan yours ahead, if necessary, for a trip to this far eastern country, there to absorb the great, tragic history of a nation's travail at time of birth, learn intimately of the Revolution such facts as no history may set forth, and feel the enthralment of these scenes which comes to the true American, never to leave him afterward. It is well to think of California's wondrous climate as superior to that of the Atlantic coast, but one visit to Massachusetts in June or in October will convince the California bred that there are other varieties of climate just as beautiful, just as soul-satisfying. For Lexington and Concord are wrapt in emerald greenery in June, and the towns are peaceful as the untroubled surface of some quiescent pool. And in October, the winding roadways are canopied by leaves upon which the first light touch of winter has been laid, turning them to red and gold and purple, with many subtle gradations of intermediate shades.

Big, double-track electric, open from end to end, now invade these historic towns from Boston, bringing in sight-seers through the summer days, but this modern means of transportation does not seemingly detract from the sleepiness of years. An hour's ride from the city allows the tourist to alight in front of the bronze statue of Captain Parker, which watches eternally the historic square. A fountain trickles beneath the pedestal of this stern hero, and the spot marks the place where the little revolutionary church stood, on the morning when Paul Revere lashed his horse through the alarmed village. The British debouched here, dividing the scarlet columns at the church, and Captain Parker's minute men met them an hundred paces further on, in the center of the green. A great, oblong boulder today marks the line of the minute men, which stretched across the open space, and carved upon it beneath a bronze musket, are the words of command given by Capt. Parker to the farmers:

"Stand your ground! Don't fire unless fired upon. But if they mean to have a war, let it begin here!"

Lexington Green is a beautiful spot in summer. Under the roof of elm branches, the sward lies level for acres. A monument, entwined with English ivy preserves the memory of the dead minute men who fell when the British commander ordered his troops to fire. Directly back of the "stand your ground" boulder, is the old Harrington house, where the wounded were taken after the skirmish, and which still shows the bullet holes of the British.

A few minutes of leisurely walking will take one to the old Hancock house. Gen. Hancock was asleep in his great four-poster bed, when Paul Revere rode to his door and kicked in the panels with his heavy riding boots. It is said, the writer spent the greater portion of two weeks in this ancient dwelling. Its sagging roofs and weather-beaten sides still defy the entrance of rain and snow, for the New England Historical Society has kept it in a state of preservation. The door is opened to the public by a white-headed daughter of the Revolution, herself a relic as interesting as the curios with which she is surrounded. Longfellow, in his story of Paul Revere's ride, does not speak of this early morning awakening of the gouty general. Paul was well on toward the termination of his ride when he routed Gen. Hancock from his bed. "All hell is abroad tonight," is what is quoted as having been shouted to the startled household. One can easily spend several days among the curios of this house.

The road on to Concord is flanked by many reminders of the retreat of the British on the morning of April 19th. Here and there one comes upon a moss-covered slab, hidden by the over-hanging foliage, which marks the spot where unknown British soldiers were buried.

On the road is the "Old Manse," the house where Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote his "Mosses from an Old Manse," and where Emerson dreamed out his wondrous essays. One may visit also the home of Louisa Alcott, who wrote so charmingly for children, and the haunts of the hermit Thoreau, the location of his cabin in the woods, and legends of this strange philosopher and poet, may be encountered. This man of few loves, who wrote:

"I have but few companions on the shore,
They scorn the strand who sail upon the sea;
Yet, oft I think the ocean they've sail'd o'er,
Is better known upon the strand to me."

The middle sea contains no crimson dulce,

It's deeper waves cast up no pearls to view.

Along the shore my hand is on its pulse

And I converse with many a ship-wrecked crew.

In Concord the revolutionary monument towers above the straggling buildings that close in upon the square, and in summer one may take the stage for the historic points of interest of which there are so many as to defy enumeration. Thousands visit Sleepy Hollow cemetery, one of the most naturally beautiful parks in this country. Here may be found the graves of Emerson, Thoreau and Louisa Alcott, and of lesser known men and women of literature and philosophy, and the severe, iron-guarded tomb of the Hear family, where a few years ago the grand old Senator from Massachusetts was laid side his fathers.

And naturally, the day's pilgrimage ends at Concord Bridge. The marble monument which marks the spot of the British repulse is of comparatively recent date. It bears this quotation from one of Emerson's poems: "By the rude bridge which arched the flood,

Their flag to freedom's breeze unfurled;

Here the embattled farmers stood, And fired the shot heard 'round the world.

For its traditions is it loved, this ground where liberty first reared its head. For its beauty in the lavishness of nature, it may be worshipped by American and alien alike, and to the American citizen in the making, this ground of Lexington and Concord is the shrine before which the vows of fealty are devoutly made.

BISHOPS HAVE NO CHANCE.

Errors Prevent Locals from Getting Shutout. Doc Fairly's Great Batting Streak.

The Bishop's of Los Angeles proved easy for Covina last Sunday afternoon, by the lopsided score of 15 to 3. It was light going for the locals at all times, and should have been a shutout.

Leonard did not appear to be a bad pitcher, but he must have left what he had at home, for the boys slammed him hard in every inning. If anybody thinks that Doc Fairly has not got a batting eye, they must have another guess coming. Out of six times to bat he laced out five good singles, and in the remaining frame got to first and scored on a sizzler that short could not handle. Stewart registered four out of five, one of them being his customary triple. To tell how it all happened would be very much like the killing scene of an ordinary melodrama. The whole team was working in a hard hitting mood, except Libby, Hughes and Tracy, and after seventeen swats were gathered, and everyone was tired of circling the bases, the fans trudged homeward praying for the time when the locals would have to get in and play respectable baseball to win.

Little was the only man that could do anything with Russel's delivery, getting two of the three hits they made. In the third two berths at first on balls, and errors by Fairly, Stewart and Tracy, netted the biscuit boys two runs. A hit and an error by Stewart, in the fifth, accounted for the other tally.

Forney was switched to short, and played an errorless game. He did not show up with the stick so strong as in former games, but the hit he did get was for two bases. King was in the backstop position, but did not have his throwing arm working as usual; seven men stealing bases.

The score:

COMPTON DEFEATS MONROVIA.

Suburban High School Championship Decided by Fast Game.

Compton High School defeated Monrovia last Saturday afternoon on the Occidental College diamond in Los Angeles, by the score of 6 to 5. This game decided the championship of the suburban high school league, and after the close race Covina made for the finals, many of the local fans attended.

Priddy did the pitching for Compton, and performed steadily. His choicest shoots were no terror to Harvey, Monrovia's crack first-sacker, however, for he connected for a home run, a triple, and a single, making more than half of the swats collected by the foothill boys, all told. Crandall's work in the heaving line was not very strong, but he was backed up by good support, the twelve hits he allowed did not count so much in the run column. The Compton boys stole bases at will, which figured largely in the scoring. Libby of Covina umpired the contest.

Heroes of Faith. Heb. xi:1-40.

Golden Text—Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Heb. xi:1.

Verses 1-3—In what respects are faith and hope similar?

If a desirable thing is possessed by faith, does that give as much, or similar, satisfaction as the possession of thing itself?

What is the ground of our faith, that "the words were framed by the word of God?"

Why do we admire the men of faith of past years?

Verses 4-5—Abel had a truly religious nature; now was this nature the result of his faith, or was his faith the result of his nature?

Does this record mean that Enoch's transaction was directly caused by a specific act of faith, or that his general life of faith made him such a good man that God translated him without death?

Verses 6—Faith is sometimes based upon outward evidence; sometimes upon personal revelation; sometimes upon intuition, and sometimes upon composite grounds; what moral or spiritual qualities, therefore, are necessary for becoming a man of faith?

Why is faith necessary in order to please God?

Verses 7—What was Noah's faith based upon, and wherein was his faith meritorious?

Verses 8-12—What was the difference, if any, between Abraham's faith and that of the Pilgrim fathers, when they left the old country for the American land of promise?

I take it that Abraham, and the Pilgrim fathers, while in communion with God, felt a drawing to go to the rich country in the distance about which they had heard; that they took this drawing to be the voice of God; and in this faith they started out; what evidence is there that their faith was true, and that such faith is always dependable?

Verses 13-16—Why is it that all nations and peoples, in all time, so far as we have any record, believe in, and "desire a better country, that is an heavenly?"

Verses 17-19—Give from memory the account of Abraham offering up his son Isaac.

What is the particular virtue, in Abraham obeying God in the matter of offering up Isaac?

Would it be a virtue or a vice in these days, if any man should do the same thing as Abraham did?

Verses 20-31—Suppose the persons mentioned in these wonderful verses, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses and Rahab, had been lacking faith in God, in these critical moments of their lives, what would have been the difference in the results?

Does faith in God always make the present happy, and picture in glowing colors the future?

Verses 32-40—Have men distinguished for their faith always been noted for their goodness?

This is a thrilling account of the exploits of the man of faith; give me an account of the achievements of men noted for their lack of faith?

Social News

The choir of the Christian Church enjoyed a delightful social evening Thursday, as guests of the Misses Effie and Vernie Houser. The spacious rooms were decorated with quantities of roses, the pride of Mrs. Houser. Refreshments were served. The affair was a farewell to Miss Maud Doughty, who leaves soon for Berkeley.

The Young Ladies' Needle Club was pleasantly entertained last Friday afternoon at the home of the Misses Ethel and Mabel Houser. Refreshments were served. Among those present were the Misses Byrd and Vic Reynolds, Ethel and Lola Keefe, Hazel Booth, Hazel Holmes, Maud Edwards, Yvonne Faulder, Agusta Sanders, Tola Houser and Mrs. F. H. Wright.

Mr. A. M. Pence's class of the Baptist Sunday School and a few invited friends, twenty-five in all, enjoyed a pleasant social evening at the home of Miss Mae Casey. A "potato bake" was enjoyed, a huge bonfire being made in the yard, and the swarthy but toothsome spuds were served with tea and sandwiches. Games were enjoyed outdoors and later all adjourned to the house to have more fun with punch and candy.

On Monday evening the young peoples' class of the Baptist Church met at the home of Miss Mamie Moore, for their monthly business and social meeting. After the meeting the evening was spent with games and music. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were the Misses Benton, Ross, Hornfeldt, Devayne, Kendall, Bohanan, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Huff; Messrs. Bohanan, Lattatt, Holman, Welch, Moore, Mitchell, Huff and Kendall.

House guests who have been visiting with Mrs. J. J. Brubaker and family, were her brother, J. A. Brubaker of Kansas City, Mo., P. D. Brubaker of Angiola, Cal., Mrs. Meadow and daughter of Whittier, and H. S. Brubaker of Uplands. On Monday they spent the day driving in the valley and on Tuesday they enjoyed the pleasures of Long Beach and sea-bathing.

FOR BETTER WAGES.

Covina Orange Pickers Strike for Twenty-five Cents Increase Without Success.

Covina's threatened strike of the orange pickers in the employ of the associations of the Fruit Exchange, seems to have shimmied down to a few disgruntled pickers, who have no following. A number of the old pickers are still idle and refuse to work, but their places have been taken by pickers brought here from other localities, and no demonstration has been made against them, or formal protest registered to the associations. Managers Atwood and Crawford of the two houses say that there are more pickers procurable than are needed.

About a dozen of the old, experienced men in each house registered a demand for $2.25 per day for nine hours instead of $2.00 per day for nine hours. The demand was not met with and the strike, which was merely a refusal to work, resulted. Foreman Yarnell of the Covina Citrus Association said yesterday that the association had filled the places of the strikers with Americans, Mexicans and Japanese, and that the association had more men than were needed at the present time. Manager Crawford stated that he had plenty of help which had been sent him from the Los Angeles employment houses. Mr. Crawford said that the Japanese are being paid $1.75 per day for nine hours, and that they were conscientious, efficient workmen, although not picking as many boxes per day as the best American help, but in a general sense, doing as much labor as the average white orange picker.

Another phase of the matter bearing on the strike of the pickers, is that of the picking of fruit by the box. Manager Crawford stated that some of the independent houses operating outside of the two associations were picking fruit and paying for the work at the rate of four cents per box. The orange picker, he said, will pick as high as 100 boxes per day making four dollars, when paid by the box, but the fruit is clipped with long stems, bruised by rough handling, and in many instances pulled from the tree without being clipped. The same men, when set to work by the day, pick but about fifty boxes per day, he stated. The associations are convinced that day work under careful inspection is the only method of getting the fruit from the trees.

GRAMMAR GRADES.

Prof. Leeblick announces that the Grammar grades will be dismissed Thursday afternoon and Friday morning of next week. At one o'clock on Friday afternoon the children of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth grades will report in their various rooms, receive their cards and promotion certificates and hold their closing exercises, to which the parents of all the children are invited. At 2:30, on the same afternoon, the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades will hold their commencement exercises in the auditorium of the grammar school and to this also the friends and parents of the children are invited.

Kistler Wilson.

A wedding which brings pleasure and happiness to more than the immediate contracting parties is that of Mr. Herbert Kistler and Miss Josephine Wilson, both of Covina, which took place Thursday evening, June 19, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Clelland in Duarte. Mr. Kistler has been employed for the past two years by the Warner, Whitel Company in Covina, and during that time has proved himself to be a young man of integrity and merit. Mr. Kistler's home was formerly in Topeka, Kansas. Miss Wilson, the bride, is a beautiful, accomplished young lady, both adjectives being employed in her praise with sincerity. She has become known among her friends in Covina as possessing a musical education of taste and ability.

The ceremony was performed with the single ring service by Rev. Mr. Clelland, at 6 o'clock. Only intimate friends and relatives were present. A wedding feast was served after the nuptials were celebrated, and the couple were driven to Monrovia, where they took the car for Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Kistler will spend their honeymoon at Catalina, after which they will be at home to their friends on West College Drive in Covina after July 15.

The bride wore a pale blue traveling suit with white hat, trimmed with a pale blue ostrich plume, and was attended by Miss Anna Summers, an intimate friend.

First Catholic Mass.

The first service of the new Catholic parish which is in process of formation in Covina, will probably be held a week from tomorrow in the Woman's Club House. Rev. Father Gary of Azusa is instrumental in arranging matters, and will conduct the first mass. Many Catholics in this vicinity have signified their willingness to support the project. Special music is being arranged in connection with the mass.

For graduation gifts, see M. Wright. He has a fine line. NEMO TACKER'S

Splendid Shoe Values

We feel sure the customer who buys good shoes, properly fitted, will secure more real comfort and wear than those who buy haphazard.

The good things in life are those we pay a fair price for. So many inferior shoes are now being made and sold that the last meeting of the Boot and Shoe Manufacturers Association have asked Congress for laws compelling shoddy manufacturers to stamp their product. But the real remedy lies with the buying public. Shoddy shoes will often wear fairly well. But the embalming process used in pressing the leather leaves it full of injurious acids, which ruin the feet and often-times the health of the wearer. Tanning leather requires nearly a year. Embalming takes from twenty-four to forty-eight hours.

J. J. Grover's soft shoes for tender feet are every pair hand made. We also have them in the old fashioned English Serge.
